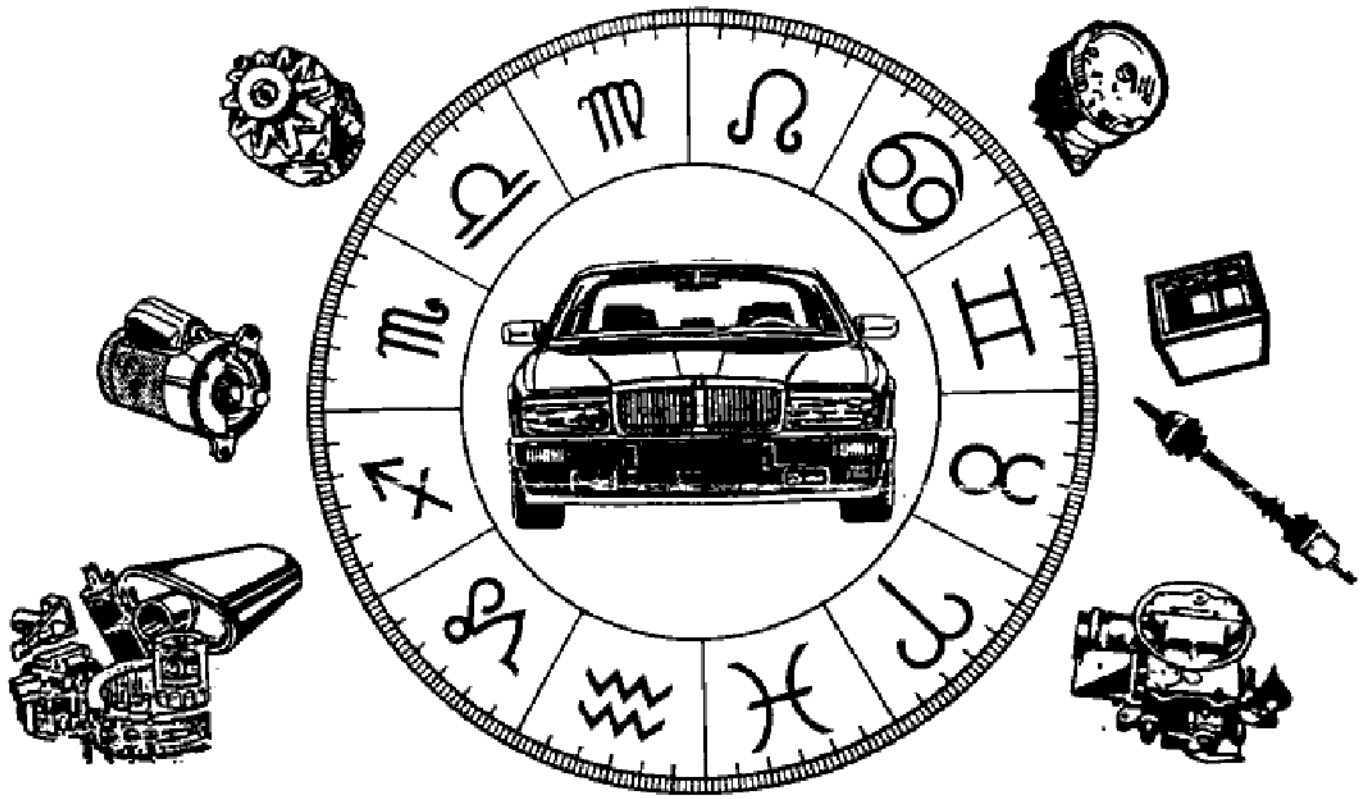
PSYCHIC CAR REPAIR



Ever notice how cars seem to "get along" with certain drivers more than others? Ever wonder why your car seems to break down when you are under pressure and need it most?

Why does your car act like it has a "mind" of its' own?

Long suspected by mechanics, automotive maintainence is more a matter of tuning in than tuning up. Because they are created by human hands, automobiles inherit some of those collective psychic energies from the factories where they are "born". The prevailing "mood" among assembly line workers is of course subject to astrological influences. That's why knowing the exact time and place of your car's creation is essential for analysis and treatment of your car's defective energies.

Starting from the engine block number on your car, ASTRAL MECHANIX employs computer-assisted search technologies to cast a full astrological profile of your car based on on the time it left the manufacturer. Then with a little detail on your own astrological background and the car's current weakness, we can lay out a courde of simple psychic healing exercises for your car, most of which can be performed by the layman in the garage without even opening the hood.
